DUBLIN, September 15.

The following exhortation has been read in all the Romiſh chapels throughout this city and ſuburbs: "The ſcenes of horror ſo multiplied of late by the furious and blood-thirſty rabble of this city and liberties, muſt fill every humane breaſt with the deepeſt abhorence and deteſtation. It is indeed ſcarce to be hoped from any menaces of ours to reclaim a ſett of execrable miſcreants, who ſo daringly bid defiance to both divine and civil laws: Yet, our earneſt deſire to contribute, as far as in us lies, to the reſtoration of the public tranquility, makes us give you this repeated notice, that there is no puniſhment in our power which we ſhall not, with the utmoſt ſeverity, inflict, upon any of our communion, whom we ſhall find concerned in the late or any future diſturbances. As theſe profligates ſeem inſenſible to the intereſt of their country, by diſcouraging induſtry, deſtroying its commerce, exaſperating the mildeſt of governments, and wantonly taking away each others lives, we can only declare to theſe helliſh emiſſaries; that beſides the eccleſiaſtical cenſures which they have already incurred by their open threats of revenge and murder, we ſhall denounce on them from our altars, we ſhall forbid them our chapels, and ſeparate them from the communion of the faithful, being the moſt dreadful puniſhment that the church of God can inflict."

There is now reaping at Abbot's town, in the county of Dublin, a ſmall field of wheat, belonging to Frederick Falkiner, Eſq; moſt of the ſtalks of which meaſure in length, from the root to the top of the ear, ſeven feet, and ſome few of the ſtalks meaſure upwards of nine feet.

Kinſale, Sept. 22. On the 7th inſt. a ſnow, called the King William, Jacob Thede, maſter, from Virginia, ſtruck on a rock called Bullman, and filled with water; ſhe got off the 12th inſt. and put into Kinſale, with two pumps going. She had 228 hogſheads of tobacco, ſtaves, &c. on board. The tobacco is almoſt ruined; but the ſhip and the reſt of the cargo will be ſaved.

Liverpool, Sept. 21. The Monmouth Capt. Clark, from Virginia, on Friday laſt, was forced on ſhore on Burboe, at the entrance of this harbour, in a gale of wind, where ſhe remained the remainder of the ebb tide, the next flood ſhe ſtarted her ſtern poſt, and the veſſel filled with water; luckily they floated her off from the bank, and run her on ſhore on the Cheſhire land, near the Red Noſes. The cargo, conſiſting of 427 hogſheads of tobacco, is moſtly damaged, except 80 caſks, and the ſhip is ſince ſunk up to her bends in the ſand.

LONDON.

Sept. 22. We hear that at the Board of Longitude that was held on Tueſday laſt, Mr. Irwin was directed to put his Marine Chair in order, that it might be ready to proceed again to the Weſt Indies, on a further trial.

Yeſterday morning 42 convicts, men and women, were carried from Newgate, and put on board a lighter at Black-friars, in order to be ſhipped for America.

It is ſaid the Duke of York purchaſed as many paintings, curioſities, &c. for the King, Queen, Princeſs Dowager of Wales, himſelf and brothers, as came to upwards of one hundred thouſand pounds; and that the preſents of that ſort, which his Highneſs received in his tour, are worth at leaſt a third of that ſum.

Sept. 29. Letters from Naples ſay, that notwithſtanding the aſſurances which the Republic of Venice has given them, that, by virtue of the treaty of peace concluded between her and the African regencies, the entrance of the Adriatic gulph would be conſtantly defended againſt the Barbarians; the Neapolitans are apprized, by letters from Raguſa, that a Tripoline Xebeque had entered that port, and after making ſome ſtay there, ſailed for the Levant, in ſight of two Venetian frigates, which let them paſs very freely, without even attempting to protect the veſſels of ſuch nations as are at war with the Barbarians. And that there was likewiſe in the port of Raguſa a galliot of Tripoli, which had on board ten men of the town of Bari, whom the Barbarians had taken out of two fiſhing-boats belonging to that place; and that on putting to ſea, the galliot directed her courſe towards the Venetian Dalmatia.

They write from Naples, that the Dey of Algier has put the crew of a Neapolitan ſhip in irons, pretending it is a Tuſcan, becauſe the captain is a native of Porto-Ferraro.

Saturday laſt ſeveral of the Proſtitutes, who are confined in Bridewell, ſtripped themſelves ſtark-naked to take the diverſion of dancing. The beadle (whoſe buſineſs it was to give the delinquents their proper diſcipline) hearing of their deſign, and thinking it very neceſſary that they ſhould have muſic, appeared amongſt them with the proper enſigns of his office, and made them dance the hay to the briſk tune of the Cat o' Nine Tails.

Extract of a private letter from a gentleman at Dijon, to his friend in London, dated Auguſt 15, 1764.

"Since my arrival here, there has been a man broke on the wheel, with no other proof to condemn him than that of a water ſpaniel, about the ſize of yours; the circumſtances attending it being ſo very ſingular and ſtriking, I beg leave to communicate them to you. A farmer, who had been to receive a ſum of money, was way-laid, robbed, and murdered by two villains: The farmer's dog returned with all ſpeed to the gentleman's houſe who had paid the money, and expreſſed ſuch amazing anxiety for the Gentleman to follow him, pulling him ſeveral times by the ſleeve and ſkirt of the coat, that at length the Gentleman ſubmitted: The dog led him to the field, a little from the road ſide, where the body lay; from thence the Gentleman went to a public houſe, in order to alarm the country: The moment he entered (as the two villians were there drinking) the dog ſeized the murderer by the throat, and the other made his eſcape. This man lay in priſon three months, during which time they viſited him once a week with the dog; and tho' they made him change his cloaths, with other priſoners, and always ſtand in the midſt of a crowd, yet would the dog find him out, and always fly at him. On the day of trial, when the priſoner was at the bar, the dog was let looſe into the Court-houſe, and in the midſt of hundreds he always found him out (tho' dreſſed entirely in new cloaths) and would have tore him to pieces, had he been allowed; in conſequence of which, he was condemned, and at the place of execution confeſſed the fact. Surely ſo uſeful, ſo diſintereſtedly faithful an animal, ſhould not be ſo barbarouſly treated as I have often ſeen them, particularly in London."

Letters from Vienna of the 8th inſtant, take notice of a difference which has lately ariſen between the Courts of Auſtria and Berlin, about the Sileſian and Bohemian trade, touching which their reſpective ſubjects have quarrels daily.

Yeſterday the merchants trading to Liſbon, agreed with a man about getting up the treaſure which was loſt in a packet-boat off Falmouth, about a year and a half ago. He is to have five per cent. excluſive of expence, for all that ſhall be ſaved out of the wreck. One cheſt contains 25,000 moidores, a bag of dollars, diamonds, and other valuable effects.

It is worth remarking, that the late election to the Crown of Poland, gives us the moſt ſtriking Inſtance that can be poſſibly imagined, of the effect the late war in Germany has had, in prejudice to the power of the Court of Verſailles. If we look back a century paſt, the retroſpection will ſhew the amazing influence of France in the choice of Poliſh Kings; and if we take the ſlighteſt review of the publick tranſactions of a few months in Poland, ſince the death of Auguſtus, we ſhall find that her intereſt there has actually dwindled into nothing. Nay, into ſuch a ſtate of abjectneſs has ſhe fallen, that her recommendation was not only rejected, but her ambaſſadors have been publickly treated with ſcorn, and driven from thence with contempt.

We hear commiſſions are come over from Jamaica, to ſhip, by the firſt opportunity, goods proper for the Spaniſh market to the value of 90,000 l.

Oct. 9. By a private letter from Warſaw, dated the 18th ult. there is an account, that the new elected King of Poland went on Thurſday the 13th ult. to the cathedral church in that city, to ſwear to the pacta conventa, ſettled between the Royal Commiſſioners and the Republick: There was a table placed before the high altar, on which ſtood a crucifix, and book of the Evangeliſts, with two wax-tapers burning. His Poliſh Majeſty ſat down, the Prince Primate, Marſhal of the Election Diet, ſtood, as did the Interregnum Secretary, with the diploma of the election, ſigned by the magnates and two nuncios out of every palatinate. The Primate producing the ſaid inſtrument between the King and his people, his Poliſh Majeſty kneeling down, the Archbiſhop adminiſtered that ſolemn oath to him in Latin, after which the King made a very pathetick ſpeech, which much affected the audience.

On Tueſday laſt was held a board for determining the merits of the three different methods for diſcovering the longitude; when the proprietor of the Marine Chair endeavoured to refute the aſſertions of a gentleman whoſe opinion he thought did not do juſtice to his chair.---Another gentleman, who ſpoke with great candour of all the three methods, acknowledged that obſervations may be made with greater certainty in, than out of, the Marine Chair; but expreſſed his apprehenſions as to the aſcertaining the longitude at ſea by it, were the ſatellite theory perfect enough to do it, which he ſeemed to doubt.---The lunar method was acknowledged by the gentlemen to anſwer very well, but they objected to the tedious calculation attending it; to obviate which, Mr. Witchell, a gentleman well known for his ſkill in aſtronomical calculations, preſented to that honourable board a method, by which it may be reduced to a ſingle proportion by logarithms, and conſequently as ſimple as can be deſired. With regard to Mr. Harriſon's Time-keeper, it will be ſufficient to obſerve, that its merits were found to be ſuch, that the honourable Commiſſioners were pleaſed to order him the immediate payment of 1000 l.

We hear that the damages ſuſtained on the ſeveral keys and wharfs, on both ſides the river Thames, from the late exceſſive high tides, are computed at no leſs than 20,000 l. and we are credibly informed from thoſe who have made the moſt exact obſervations, that the tide has not flowed ſo high for ſeveral years.

A Gentleman who has been at ſome pains to enumerate the ſeveral accounts we have had of the French and Spaniſh naval preparations, ſince the peace, obſerves, that allowing the ſaid accounts to be true, both theſe powers muſt have made a ſurprizing progreſs indeed, as in that caſe France will be found to be now actually poſſeſs'd of 112 ſhips of the line, 43 frigates, beſides ſloops; and the Spaniſh navy, by the ſame calculation, will amount to ſeventy-one ſhips of the line, thirty-five frigates, &c. Our correſpondent adds, that ſetting aſide the frequent and alarming paragraphs from Breſt, Toulon, Rochfort, and other capital ſea-ports of France as extravagant, and allowing, that every Court engaged in the late war are endeavouring, by various arts of policy, to recover thoſe ſpirits and vigour which that war had almoſt exhauſted; nevertheleſs, France has ſuch natural advantages over her neighbours, that there are grounds to ſuſpect ſhe will ſooner accompliſh this great end, than any other Chriſtian power, unleſs our partial prejudice ſhould induce us to except ourſelves.

We hear from Wexford in Ireland, that three ladies of that town have lately reſolved to enter into the ſtate of matrimony, and agreed to celebrate their nuptials on the ſame day.---They are grandmother, mother and daughter.

Extract of a letter from an Engliſh Gentleman now reſiding at Edinburgh to his friend at London.

"The country of Scotland is improving in every neceſſary convenience, and even luxury of life, with amazing rapidity. The daily progreſs of improvement is viſible; for, ſince the time I came to it, the change for the better has been very conſiderable. In this city, they have at laſt fixed on the proper method of effectually promoting the cultivation of ſciences and arts, by the inſtitution of Societies. Three of theſe have been founded within theſe three years, and conducted with great expedition, unanimity, and ſucceſs. The laſt was for the encouragement of the importation of American ſeeds. You know, I preſume, that theſe Societies have already ſettled here a teacher of the Engliſh language; and have erected a manege, where the riding part of education is properly taught.

"If there be any juſtice in the reproach of barrenneſs, ſo generally thrown on this country, I muſt think it far more imputable to the inhabitants than to the ſoil; wherever this is properly cultivated, it yields a very ample increaſe. Agriculture ſeems indeed to have been hitherto but little attended to, by the generality of the Scots; but now, I can aſſure you, it begins to gain that great attention which it merits; and from thoſe too who are alone capable of conceiving and executing plans for its real and permanent improvement, I mean the gentlemen of this country, who apply to huſbandry with a very general and laudable aſſiduity.

"Our univerſity has lately received a conſiderable addition, by the appointment of Mr. Ruſſel to the profeſſion of natural philoſophy; the former Profeſſor, Mr. Ferguſon, being removed to that of moral philoſophy. We expect too ſome important changes in the profeſſions of medicine. Theſe, with the appointment of Dr. Blair to the Chair of Rhetorick, and Dr. Robertſon to the Principalſhip, both which ſtations they fill with uncommon applauſe, make this unqueſtionably, in many reſpects, the beſt univerſity in Europe. You may believe, at leaſt, that I am perſuaded of it, by my ſpending ſo much of my time in this place. "I am," &c.

Oct. 16. On the arrival of the Pigot from Bengal, the Company's affairs were deſcribed as in a very deſperate ſituation. The truth, by the beſt information is, that the fugitative Nabob Coſſim Ally Khan, has, with his treaſures, joined the Schah Zadah, and the Nabob of Oude, who have promiſed to aſſiſt him in invading the province of Bengal, but that as yet they had made no motion. The Schah Zadah and the Nabob of Oude have for theſe three years been in ſuch want of money, that they have not been able to advance a ſtep towards the capital of Delhi, where the Schah Zadah has an undoubted right to the throne of the Moguls. It is therefore no wonder that they ſhould receive with open arms a man, who brought them ſo much treaſure as Coſſim Ally is reported to have carried out of Bengal. For in Indoſtan, more than in any other country of the world, money covers every crime, and ſanctifies every character. However, it is not improbable that the Schah Zadah, as ſoon as he has exhauſted Coſſim Ally's treaſures, will pay no farther regard to his intereſts. In the mean time, to put the worſt that can happen, we will ſuppoſe the three confederates determined to attack the dominions of Jaffier Ally Khan, the preſent Nabob of Bengal; a ſuppoſition ſo very reaſonable, that it was foreſeen, and was prognoſticated in one of the General Courts held laſt May, and urged as a reaſon for Lord Clive's going abroad. To repel this invaſion, Colonel Carnac, who has once before defeated the Schah Zadah, and whoſe abilities as a ſoldier are well known, is at the head of 1300 Europeans, and a large body of Seapoys, at the Weſtern extremity of the province of Bahar, through which, for the ſpace of 300 miles, the enemy will have to fight their way before they come to the frontiers of Bengal, and it will likewiſe be neceſſary that they reduce Patna, the capital of Bahar, in their march. The time they will have to effect all this, is only three months; from the end of March, when the ſhip Pigot left India, to the end of June, when the ſetting in of the rains will render all roads impaſſable, and ſtop all military operations for the next three months. In the months of July and Auguſt, before the rains are ended, will arrive the ſhips ſent from England laſt ſeaſon with recruits, of which the number, I am informed, amount to 1511 ſoldiers; and in December will, in all probability, arrive Lord Clive himſelf, with the Field Officers that accompanied him. When it is conſidered that the Schah Zadah, in the year 1760, altho' at the head of an army, offered to fling himſelf his fortunes, and his whole ſtate, under Clive's protection, it may be imagined he will no ſooner hear of his arrival, than he will ſeek all means of reconciling himſelf to the Engliſh; for, romantic as it may ſeem, it is very certain that the Schah Zadah, and every Prince in the Empire, who have any connections with the Engliſh, have a veneration, almoſt equal to ſuperſtition, for the fortune of Clive.

PORT-ROYAL (in Jamaica) October 12.

Came in the King-Bird, a ſloop belonging to Rhode-Iſland; ſhe was taken by a French guard-de-coſta, and ſent hither by the Count d'Eſtaing, to be delivered to our Governor. A French officer, the Chevalier d'Arcy, came in her for that purpoſe.

Oct. 13. Laſt Monday night as the pilot boat belonging to Port-Royal, was lying at an anchor at a place called the Folly, near the eaſt end of this iſland, a ſmall ſchooner boat came along ſide and boarded her; there were 8 negroes in the pilot-boat, but only one awake, whom they ſoon ſecured; after which they went off in the pilot boat, and left their own behind. Theſe pirates were 5 in number, 2 Frenchmen, 2 Mulattoes, and a negroe, the mulattoes are natives of Antigua, one of them well known at Port-Royal, and has ſailed out of this place; his name is Joſeph Thomas. They were armed with muſkets, and enquired after another pilot boat that is out, and ſaid they were going to Cuba; they permitted one of the pilot negroes (who ſignified a diſinclination to go with them) to go aſhore in a canoe, who gives this account of them.

We hear the Druid ſloop of war, commanded by Capt. Burnaby, ſails this morning in ſearch of thoſe pirates, and to cruiſe for the protection of the trade going through the windward paſſage; as it is very probable they may attempt to ſurpriſe ſome veſſel under pretence of being the pilot-boat.

A ſchooner with a Lieutenant and upwards of 20 men, from the ſquadron, was to ſail laſt night in queſt of them, and to call at every place on the iſland of Cuba, where there may be a probability of finding them.

Oct. 26. Monday laſt arrived his Majeſty's ſhip Venus. And this morning came in the Alarm, with the Swift ſloop under jury maſts.---The Swift was met by the Venus at ſea, and towed by her and the Alarm to this place. It is ſaid 50 of the Swift's crew are loſt.

CHARLES-TOWN (South-Carolina) November 9.

The number of new ſettlers who have had warrants for land granted them in this province, for ten months laſt paſt, amounts to upwards of eight hundred and ſeventy.

Nov. 16. His Excellency George Johnſtone, Eſq; Governor of Weſt Florida, is arrived at Mobille from England.

This day 100 barrels of rice, of the preſent crop, were ſold for 50 ſhillings currency the hundred pounds weight, and is the firſt parcel ſold.

Extract of a letter from Penſacola, October 21, 1764.

His Excellency George Johnſtone, Eſq; Governor of this province [Weſt-Florida] arrived here yeſterday in about 3 weeks from Jamaica. Our Governor's preſence will give a new turn to affairs; the ſtep of ſending away or ſeizing certain veſſels with only caſh on board is regarded as highly impolitick, and which we are aſſured will not happen in future. Sir John Lindſay, the commanding officer of his Majeſty's ſhips on this ſtation, who now reſides in this province, is a man of ſingular knowledge, and the ſituation of the place for commerce, is ſuch that few other places can boaſt of. Bricklayers, carpenters, gardiners and planters, are much wanted, as are alſo ſheep for breed, bricks and materials for building. The appearance of the country is much ſuperior to the partial repreſentations of people who were leſs acquainted with it than diſguſted with their own ſituation."

Nov. 30. Yeſterday the Reverend Mr. GEORGE WHITEFIELD arrived at Mr. Barkſdale's, in Chriſt-church pariſh, by land from Philadelphia, and is this day expected in town.

Dec. 7. The Rev. Mr. GEORGE WHITEFIELD, who arrived here laſt Friday by land from Philadelphia, preached in the New-England meeting on Sunday, and on Tueſday ſet out for Georgia, whence, we hear, he propoſes to return in about three weeks to this place.

The Governor of New-Orleans has iſſued a proclamation, by order of his maſter the French King, notifying that the Iſland and City of New-Orleans, &c. are ceded to his Moſt Catholick Majeſty. So that now we may congratulate the true friends of their country on the expulſion of the French from all North-America.

BOSTON, December 20.

Tueſday Evening about 8 o'Clock a Woman was attacked near Dock-ſquare by a Man, who held her till another Woman robbed her of the Money ſhe had in her Pocket, as alſo her Cloak and Bonnet. They ran off, before Aſſiſtance came up.

We hear that a ſmall Schooner, Tender to the Maidſtone Frigate, which lately ſailed from hence for Rhode-Iſland, foundered near the South Shoal of George's Bank, in ſight of ſaid Ship, but the Wind blew ſo violent they could afford her no Aſſiſtance, and the Crew, 12 in Number, all periſhed.

Extract of a Letter from Caſco Bay, Dec. 10. 1764.

"Laſt Friday Morning arrived here one of his Majeſty's Cutters, or armed Sloop, called the Gaſpee, Thomas Allen Commander. She came to Anchor juſt at the Mouth of the Harbour, and the Wind being South-Weſt, a Number of Veſſels belonging to this Port happened to arrive the ſame Day, ſome from the Weſt-Indies, and others from Boſton, Rhode-Iſland, &c. Maſter Allen brought them all to, boarded them, and preſſed a Number of their Hands, all of which belonged to this Town; one, in particular, was Mate of one of the Veſſels, and another had a Wife and young Children depending upon the Father's Return to ſupport them. The Friends of one or two went down to the Cutter, to plead for the Relief of the poor diſtreſſed Men, but all to no Purpoſe, and meeting with ill Treatment, irritated a Number of hearty Fellows belonging to the Town, who gathered together on Saturday Morning, and, immediately upon Maſter Allen's coming aſhore in the Yawl, they ſeized ſaid Yawl, and carried her to the Top of a high Hill, the Back of the Town, and ſet a Guard upon her, in order to ſecure the Retreat of the Captain and Men to their Veſſel, and then a Number ſurrounded the Captain of the Cutter, and ſhewing a true Britiſh ſpirit, inſiſted upon his giving immediate Orders to give the poor preſſed Men their Liberty, which he promiſed, upon his Honour, he would, upon his going on board: They would not take his Word, but made him give written Orders to his Officer on board to deliver up the Men, and inſiſted on his ſtaying as Hoſtage till their Redemption; which he complied with whilſt a Number went and fetched up the Men; after which they brought down the Yawl, launched her in the Water, and delivered her safe to him, not using him in the least rough Manner during their whole Proceeding."

NEW-YORK, December 27.

On Tuesday Night, we had a very hard Gale of Wind, with much Snow; several Vessels in the Harbour received much Damage---and one Ship was overset.

The Ship George and John, George Kid, Master, is to sail for London next Week.

PHILADELPHIA, January 3.

Mr. HALL, SIR,

I HAVE hitherto been a silent Party in the Differences between the Proprietary and People, and should still have remained so, but for the last Publication in your Paper, in Answer to Mr. Hughes's Challenge. I am a Friend, Sir, to Mr. Allen, and all the worthy Men on that Side, and I cannot bear to see him so abused in that detestable Performance, which we would suppose, from the insolent Insinuations of the Author, to be written under that Gentleman's Countenance, and with his Sanction. If indeed he is the Friend of Mr. Allen, which he says he is, I can only answer in the Words of a Poet I have some time read;

A foolish froward Friend's the worst of Foes.

Mr. Allen, and the other Gentlemen of the Proprietary Party, have now, I suppose, given up their Cause (as it was thought they would have done some time ago) since they have not appeared in Answer to the Challenge; Mr. Hughes at least remains at present Master of the Field, as they have not yet answered it. But is that any Reason why this paltry Scribler should step in with his Mop and Broomstick, and bespatter all around him? That he should be suffered to confound an Argument of such Importance----an Argument on which depends not only the Character of our Agent, but, in a great Measure, the Cause of Liberty itself, with his wiggle-waggle Nonsense, is intolerable. But yet I cannot, for my Life, help laughing, to imagine the pantomime fantastic Grin and Air with which this Antic plays his Part; and even when I think of his impertinent Intrusion among the Combatants, it puts me in Mind of a little Mud-fish I have heard of, which, as soon as it is discovered, sinks itself to Bottom, and begins to play itself about with such Dexterity, that presently it is inveloped, with every thing around it, in a dirty Puddle; and I cannot be more angry with the one than the other, not more with the Author than the Fish; and why should I be angry with the Fish, even tho' he should conceal a fine large Trout which I was angling for? It is the Nature of the Thing; and if I will but have a little Patience, the Mud will sink to Bottom, and I shall see my Trout again. Thus it is with our Author, and in the same Manner will this Dust, which he has raised about our Combatants, disperse itself in Air, or sink to Earth again, agreeable to its gross and filthy Nature, and we shall soon distinguish every Object of Dispute as heretofore. Contempt, however, will find Place in such a Case as this, where Anger has no Exercise; but even this I try to soften and alleviate as much as possible; and if our Author really is some needy Garretteer, who has unwittingly endeavoured to curry Favour with the Gentlemen already mentioned by this wild Effusion of Absurdity and Folly, from a Plea of Necessity, as I am disposed to think, from other Circumstances besides the Couplet he has introduced,

That Authors had much rather eat,

and what immediately follows of the Pies and Cakes, there is then indeed some little Exercise for Pity, that he has so ill succeeded; and I really wish that they would so far overlook this very ill, tho' well meant Attempt, as to contribute something to relieve his Wants, or even take him for a Week or two in Turn to their Kitchens. Indeed if they are not moved to this by Charity, I am sure they will by Policy, for fear he should attempt to open his Mouth again, which if he does, I am afraid he will be more obstreperous than now; and I myself, as a Friend of those Gentlemen, and of the Public, would give a Trifle to remove him, as a common Nusance, out of Danger of a second Essay.

But that those who have not read that Paper, and are not willing to believe me on my bare Assertion, may be satisfied that there really has appeared so ridiculous a Rodomontear, so bungling a Bumble Bee, on this Occasion, I shall recite a few Passages, from innumerable others, to convince them of it.

In the first Place, that he is a Fool, is evident from this blockheadical Assertion in his second Section, "That the "World in general, seldom considers a Paper more or "less true, for want of a Name."---That he understands nothing of the Matter he is writing of, and was not authorized, by any of the Gentlemen concerned, is evident from his Insinuation, "that Mr. Allen's, and the other "Gentlemens Cause, is the Cause of Liberty," when it has been always very plain, that Mr. Allen has been all his Life on the Side of Power and Prerogative; nor has that Gentleman, or any others of that Party, ever seriously asserted it. It is true, indeed, they said so, but then they were not serious, for they knew No-body would believe them; and you know, that what is said in Contradiction to a well known Truth, we call a Joke, or what the School-boys call an Irony, and consequently they were joking, and what they said was meant ironically.-----But further, it is evident that he understands not any thing of the Case in Hand, when he justifies the Answer to the "Remarks" appearing without a Name, by Instances that have no Analogy at all to it; as that anonymous Preface to Mr. Galloway's Speech, in Answer to the anonymous Preface to Mr. Dickinson's Speech, &c. not considering that Mr. Franklin's "Remarks" were in Answer to the dissenting Members "Protest," which were both signed, as was very proper and necessary, especially if we consider that a particular Character was attacked and defended in these two Papers; that it was so far become a private Cause, and that therefore it would be expected, that if any Answer should appear to these Remarks, that it would be signed, as the rest had been; consequently this Conclusion, "That if a Reply to such an Answer is not made, it ought to be presumed, that Mr. Hughes, or the real Author of the Advertisement, is incapable of making any," is absurd, and against the Sense of all Mankind; and if it really is so, how reasonable was Mr. Hughes's Call upon the Authors of that Answer, to assert their nameless Offspring? And considering the Advantage which his Friend then had of them, in the Judgments of all reasonable People, in their masking themselves, as our Author calls it, how generous was it in him to give them so fair an Opportunity of doing Credit to their Charges on his Friend, by taking off their Masks!----That our Author, indeed, should be afraid to expose his Name to the "Public Clamor," is not to be wondered at, for many known, and suppositious Reasons; but at the same time that we look upon it as a Proof of his well-founded Fear, we ought to admire it as an Instance that he has Sense enough to know himself, which, considering his manifold Stupidities and Follies in other Instances, is more than every Fool has got, and if not the first Part of Wisdom, which they say is not to be a Fool, it is at least the wisest Part of Folly, which is not to own it when he has committed it.------Instead of the "public Clamor," (as I have rendered it above) he says the "Clamor of Party," which every Body will know how to understand as well as me; but I shall just observe to what follows of his Apprehensions of the "Resentment of Power," that if he had been authorized by Mr. Allen, and the other Gentlemen of that Party, (which is evident he was not, from the whole worthlessness of the Scribble) he would have known that they have the whole Power of one Part of the Legislature on their Side; tho' indeed as it really is, he has Reason enough to be apprehensive of their Resentment, as he has so basely scandalized them.

I have now answered to the second Paragraph, which you may consider as an Answer to the whole, as what succeeds is nothing but the Frolic of a Monkey, or the Evasions of a Knave; in either of which, however, predominates the Fool. and for which I had better refer your Readers to the Piece itself, and to their own Observations on it, than to tire them and myself with useless Extracts and Remarks upon them. My main Design is already answered, which was to prove that our Author could not possibly have had the Sanction of Mr. Allen, and the other Gentlemen of Understanding, of that Party, for his Reply to Mr. Hughes's Challenge, as he calls it, which I think appears beyond all Contradiction, from the Circumstances I have mentioned, as well as from the Tenor of the whole Performance; I shall therefore now conclude with some Advice to our Author,

And hark'ee Friend---"Go home----go to Bed---anoint "thy Head with Oil---and put a cooling Plaister of Bread and Milk on it."----Hush---don't struggle---don't be violent, Friend---I won't hurt thee.-----"When thou hast "done this---cover thyself up warm---and take a Nap---"This will do thee Good-----It will put thy Brain to-"rights---Then appear before thy assumed Patron, in all "Humility----prostrate thyself at his Feet----ask his Pity "and Forgiveness----and then thou mayest have some "Hopes of Mercy and Favour.-----But never attempt to "write again."

POPLICOLA.

Philadelphia, December 31, 1764.

Mr. HALL,

AFTER my Arrival this Day from a neighbouring Province, I perused your last Week's Paper, and therein found an anonymous Performance, inserted as an Answer to the Advertisements I left with my Son, to be delivered (for Publication) to Mr. Bradford and yourself.

This I did, in order that not only the Gentlemen Protesters, but their Abettors, might have a fair Opportunity of supporting their Charges against Mr. Franklin, in the same candid Manner in which they were begun, if Truth was on their Side.

But their Bravo, I find, Indian like, keeps himself concealed behind the Bush, and from thence, with his usual Effrontery, endeavours (as far as his contaminating Pen will reach) to blast Mr. Franklin's public as well as private Reputation.

On a Conduct so base and unmanly, my late Return from the Country will not at present permit me to remark; but the Public may expect, in your next Week's Paper, to see the Facts between us properly stated, and a full Answer given to his Advertisements, by, SIR,

Your most humble Servant,

JOHN HUGHES.

THE Subscribers beg Leave to inform the Public, that they have lately erected, at Baltimore Town, in Maryland, a Distillery for making Rum; which (by many good Judges who have seen it) is allowed to be one of the largest, compleatest and best constructed Still-House of any in North-America! And having furnished themselves with an expert Distiller, and a plentiful Stock of Melasses, they purpose to carry on the Distilling Business extensively, and to supply constantly the Demand for Home-made Rum, at nearly the same as the Philadelphia Prices, at least on much lower Terms than the Province of Maryland has been generally supplied with that Article: The Rum already made by them has been highly approved by the best Judges, and deemed superior to either Philadelphia or New-England Rum; and they hope to give Satisfaction to the Public, as well as maintain their own Reputation, by continuing to make always of the same approved Quality.---As this Undertaking is so well calculated to promote the general Trade of the Province, and so convenient for supplying the Country Traders, Farmers, &c. who bring their Produce to Baltimore Market, as well as to promote the private Emolument of the Owners; it is hoped the Public will give proper Encouragement to a Branch of Trade so useful, and so much wanted in the Province.---Any Gentleman wanting Quantities of Rum for Exportation, by giving timeous Notice may be supplied, and proper Allowance made to such, by their humble Servants,

¶ WILLIAM M'DOWELL.

PHILADELPHIA: Printed by B. FRANKLIN, POST-MASTER, and D. HALL, at the NEW PRINTING-OFFICE, near the Market.

January 10, 1765. NUMB. 1881.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

Mr. HALL,

IN a Paper publiſhed by Mr. Bradford ſome time ago, there was a Piece called, "A Proteſt againſt the Appointment of Mr. Franklin an Agent for this Province;" to which the Proteſters thought it proper to ſign their ſeveral Names: This, whatever were their Motives, had the Appearance of Candour. They thereby gave Mr. Franklin an Opportunity of knowing his Enemies, of vindicating his much injured Reputation, and of refuting thoſe defamatory Untruths which their Envy and Malice had thrown out againſt him. He, therefore, tho' it had been his Cuſtom to treat with Silence and Contempt anonymous Libels againſt his private Character, thought it proper to publiſh in his Vindication Remarks on the ſaid Proteſt, to which he alſo ſubſcribed his Name. Thus both the Parties became fairly engaged, ſtaking their Credit for their reſpective Aſſertions. From hence the Public had Reaſon to expect, that the Conteſt would be conducted with the ſame Honour and Candour with which it was commenced. But how have they been deceived! The Proteſters, the firſt Aſſailants of Mr. Franklin's Character, the firſt Cenſurers of the Conduct of a great Majority of their Brethren in Aſſembly, on the Publication of the Remarks meanly and daſtardly forſook the Conteſt, and ſkulked behind the Curtain; not from any Remorſe at the Falſhoods they had publiſhed, but from a Conviction that they could not, with any tolerable Credit, longer ſupport their malignant Charges againſt him.

But as Succeſs did not attend their firſt Attempt to cruſh their Opponent with the Weight of their Names, the grand Point they had in View, their next Step was, to turn out in their Stead a certain dirty infamous Scribler, who, having no Reputation of his own to loſe, with Readineſs undertakes to pour forth a Torrent of Scurrility and Abuſe againſt an abſent Gentleman. Certainly this was not acting conſiſtent with the Principle they ſet out on, I mean of affixing their Names to their Libels; nor can it be juſtified by the Rules of Honour or Honeſty.

However, it ſeems, the nameleſs Advocate of theſe Proteſters has publiſhed what he calls an Anſwer to Mr. Franklin's Remarks: And it appears that he has been well tutored, and furniſhed with all the Obloquy and Abuſe which diſappointed Rage could invent. This Performance was wrote in the Abſence of Mr. Franklin, which probably did not a little contribute to its Exiſtence and Publication. Upon Peruſal of it, I found it contained far more Abuſe, and poſitive Aſſertions, unſupported by the leaſt Proof, or juſt Argument, than even the Proteſt itſelf. I thereupon thought it a Duty I owed to my Friend, whoſe good Name was thus inſidiouſly attacked in his Abſence, to call forth the Authors of the Proteſt from their Hiding-Places; to challenge them to put their Names to their malicious Performance, and to ſupport the Charges therein contained againſt him; promiſing them, at the ſame Time, in caſe they would avow it, that a full Anſwer ſhould be made to every Charge. This I thought, and ſtill think, and I believe every good Man will think but reaſonable, where the Conteſt began as this did, and private Reputation was at Stake. But this Propoſal favoured too much of Candour and Honour, whoſe Weapons they avoid making uſe of, leſt they ſhould be foiled for want of Dexterity in wielding them, and therefore they will not, dare not, ſign their Names to ſo large a Catalogue of Falſhoods.

Having thus given the Public a true State of the Facts, and obſerved on the diſingenuous Procedure of the Proteſters, I ſhall next addreſs myſelf more particularly to you, Mr. Scribler, the Writer of the Anſwer to my Advertiſement, and remark on the Reaſons you offer in Vindication of their Conduct. But as to your low Scurrility, and aukward Attempt at Wit, I ſhall paſs them over, as unworthy of the leaſt Notice.-----You alledge, "that the "Subſcribing political Papers has not been a common "Practice either here or in our Mother Country." And have you then the Folly to think you can conceal a private Libel under the ſoft Term of a political Paper? Has Politics neceſſarily any Connection with private Slander, or private Slander with Politics? Decent political Papers are by no Means offenſive to the Laws of your Country, tho' ſlanderous perſonal Writings are, as being manifeſtly deſtructive of the public Peace. Perhaps, however, your Memory may have failed you on this Occaſion; if ſo, read over again your Anſwer, and you will find it contains at leaſt twenty poſitive Charges againſt Mr. Franklin's private Reputation, to one againſt his public Conduct. And can you ſeriouſly think that you live in a Country, where with Impunity a worthy Character may be ſullied and poiſoned by the baleful Breath of an anonymous Scribler? The Laws of the Land have provided your Puniſhment, could you be dragged forth from your Lurking-Place, and did not our preſent unhappy State of public Diſtraction prevent the Execution of them. But you may rely on it, that the virtuous Part of the Community will not be backward in inflicting their heavy Cenſure on ſuch opprobrious Conduct.

You inſinuate, it is true, that this Practice of the Proteſters is ſimilar to Mr. Franklin's; but the Inſtances you produce prove nothing of the Kind, and are beſides no ways parallel. To have made them ſo, you ſhould have ſhewn that they were anonymous Anſwers to Pieces publiſhed with the Names of the reſpective Writers.

Since, however, you are ſo fond of the Expreſſion, call it "a political Paper," and let us agree that it is not the "common Practice to ſubſcribe" Papers of that Kind; yet you muſt allow, that it is as uncommon for Gentlemen, and much more ſo for Magiſtrates, to publiſh Libels with their Names, and afterwards, when their Falſhoods are detected, to apply to an anonymous Libeller to ſupport them; juſt as fearful Boys, when in Water, have Recourſe to Corks to ſave them from ſinking. Such is the Conduct of the Proteſters. They firſt began by ſubſcribing their Names to their Proteſt, as is before obſerved; but as ſoon as Mr. Franklin's Remarks appeared ſigned in the ſame Manner, they, convinced of their Effect with the good People of Pennſylvania, and dreading the Weight of his Credit, when put in Competition with their own, drop the Practice they themſelves had begun, and introduce a new One, truly contemptible, and full of the moſt miſchievous and dangerous Conſequences. For the Truth of this, I will venture to appeal to yourſelf, as I think, that though you are a Proprietary Creature, and Hireling of the Proteſters, yet ſhould your own Reputation come in Queſtion, you would hardly deny what was really in your Favour. For Inſtance, ſhould a Gentleman of Credit impeach your moral Character, charge you with a fraudulent Breach of Truſt, with Ingratitude, Time-ſerving, proſtituting your Pen for the Purpoſes of Defamation, profane Swearing, Blaſphemy, Adultery, Rapes and Perjury (Crimes which you, to be ſure, of all Men, never were guilty of) and to add Credit to the Calumny, ſhould ſubſcribe his Name to the Charge; and you thereupon ſhould publiſh a full Refutation, and ſign it with your Name: What Appellation, I ſay, would you, in ſuch Caſe, think bad enough to give your Accuſer, was he to retreat, and hire ſome anonymous Writer to carry on the barbarous Scheme of murdering your Character? Would you not immediately cry aloud, that the Practice was baſe, dangerous, and ſuch as ought not to be countenanced? And would you not think your Fellow-Members of the Community were guilty of the higheſt Injuſtice, ſhould they give Credit to ſuch Filchers of your good Name?

Who ſteals my Purſe, ſteals Traſh, 'tis ſomething, nothing,
'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been Slave to Thouſands;
But he that filches from me my good Name,
Robs me of that which not enriches him,
And makes me poor indeed! Shakeſpear.

It was a Law among the Romans, that no Man ſhould be condemned, "before the Accuſed ſhould have the Accuſer Face to Face," Acts xxv. 16. This excellent Rule has ſince been adopted in the Syſtem of Britiſh Liberty, where every Perſon accuſed is acquitted of Courſe, unleſs the Witneſſes appear, and are examined in his Preſence: And indeed there are few Nations in the World ſo barbarous, as not to make this an eſſential Rule of Juſtice.-------Beſides, one great Security of Innocence, againſt malicious Accuſations, conſiſts in the Puniſhment which the Wicked expect from the Cenſures of the Virtuous; another, from the Penalties which the Law inflicts on the Accuſers, ſhould their Charges prove falſe; and another ariſes from the Infamy and Want of Credit in the Accuſer: All which will be deſtroyed, ſhould ſuch Miſcreants as you be permitted to lie concealed, Indian like, and publiſh to the World your Volumes of Slander, which, from the Dread of Cenſure and Puniſhment, you dare not openly avow.

What then, Sir, could induce you and your Employers to deviate from this Law, this Bulwark of Innocence? We have the Reaſon from yourſelf. If, ſay you, "the Au"thor or Authors had ſubſcribed their Names to the An"ſwer, it would have led the Reader's Attention from the "Merit of the Cauſe to the Perſon of the Author." Here, for once, you have, though perhaps inadvertently, wrote the Truth. For if you are the Perſon I ſuſpect, or, indeed, the One your Conduct beſpeaks you to be, there are few honeſt Men in the Place where you are known, that would regard even Truth itſelf, unleſs Self-evident indeed, ſhould it accidentally drop from your Pen. Defamation and Slander are known to be the darling Themes of your numerous Performances. And therefore whatever you are known to write, ſpeak, or even ſwear, has hitherto had very little Weight with thoſe acquainted with your Principles and Practice. From a Conviction of this Truth, your preſent Conduct ariſes; and therefore the Concealing your Name exhibits ſtrong Evidence of Cunning and Knavery, though not of Candour and Juſtice.

But you would alſo perſuade us to believe that you are deeply concerned, leſt "The Cauſe of Liberty ſhould "ſuffer, if her Advocates were obliged to expoſe their "Names to the Clamor of Party, or the Reſentment of "Power." Wonderful indeed! That your Breaſt ſhould at length be warmed in Favour of a Cauſe which you have made it your Study to deſtroy, ever ſince you have been in the Province. But how rarely do we find the Advocates of Liberty have had any Thing to fear from the "Clamor of Party?" Very few indeed, if any, have fallen a Sacrifice to the Reſentment of the People; for the Cauſe of Liberty is the Cauſe of the People. It is to the arbitrary Meaſures of Power that the Friends of Freedom owe their Deſtruction; Witneſs Cicero's Exile, Sydney's Death, &c. &c. And can you ſeriouſly ſay, that you are under any Apprehenſion of Danger from this Quarter? Are you not employed and ſupported by the Men who command Power itſelf? And will they not be ever ready to ſhield you againſt any Attempt that may be made to put the juſt Laws of your Country in Execution againſt you?

But, it ſeems, you are alſo afraid of the "Clamor of "Party." Here again, upon Reflection, you will find, you are frightened at a Shadow. For of what Party can you be afraid? Surely, if you are really "the Advocate of "Liberty," you cannot dread thoſe good People of Pennſylvania, who have been for many Years firmly contending againſt Proprietary Injuſtice and Oppreſſion; who have from a Senſe of Duty been calling out, in vain, for the Execution of the Laws againſt Men who have, with Impunity, made the Sun itſelf bluſh with their Murders; who at the Requeſt of the Governor united when none elſe would unite, to ſuppreſs the moſt dangerous Riots, and to protect the Laws of a weak and tumultuous Government. And as to the Danger from the other Party, your Fears muſt be ſtill more imaginary; for it is they that have approved not only all your defamatory Performances againſt one Branch of the Legiſlature, but even what, with uncommon Hardineſs, and the Spirit of Sedition itſelf, you have wrote againſt the beſt of Sovereigns, and his Government.

By this Time I am rather inclined to hope, that you are convinced that "the Cauſe of Liberty" cannot "ſuffer" from the Proteſters, or ſome of their Friends of Character, declaring themſelves by Name to be the Authors of the Anſwer. And if their "Modeſty and Senſe" will permit them to do ſo, I again repeat my former Aſſurances, that they ſhall have a full Reply to it. And until this is done, it will be the higheſt Folly in your Friends to flatter themſelves, that Mankind will be ſo unjuſt as to credit your Slanders againſt Mr. Franklin.

But why do you ſo much diſreliſh my fair Propoſal of referring this Matter to the Deciſion of indifferent Gentlemen of the neighbouring Government? As to the Wager, as you call it, I had not the leaſt Reaſon to ſuſpect your Diſapprobation of it, becauſe it is well known to be the Favourite Mode of your Patron himſelf, by which he has frequently propoſed to determine Points in Diſpute. But as to your Refuſal of the Reference propoſed, I can but conclude, either that your Pride and Arrogance has taught you to believe that all Honour and Juſtice are confined to your little Circle, and that, of Courſe, the Gentlemen of New-York, New-Jerſey and Maryland, are deſtitute of both; or that you are fully convinced, from the Badneſs of your Cauſe, that you would not even ſtand "Half a "Chance of a favourable Decree" before any impartial Tribunal. For, if we are to judge from your own Words, you are reſolved not to appeal to any Judicature where your Opponent ſhall have even "Half a Chance" of a juſt Deciſion.

However, notwithſtanding your great Averſion to the Acceptance of Propoſals, you have none, it ſeems, to the making them yourſelf; for you ſay, "if any Perſon of "Character, who is known to be capable of writing an "Advertiſement, will, to ſave Trouble, mention what Part "of the Anſwer ſtands in need of further Proof, they will, "no Doubt, find the Satisfaction they deſire." I do not profeſs to have any extraordinary Abilities for Compoſition, nor do I think them neceſſary to enable a Man to "write an Advertiſement," or indeed any thing elſe, where he has the Truth on his Side, and means to repreſent that only: And yet I think I may, without much Vanity, expect the Publick will deem me to be at leaſt as well qualified for the Taſk as your Patron But why would you give us ſo ſtrong an Inſtance of your Impudence and Folly, as to attempt to perſuade Mankind that you, and the Proteſters, had given ſome Proof of the Charges againſt Mr. Franklin? The Reaſon muſt be, becauſe you hoped to remain unknown, or becauſe you are loſt to all Senſe of Reputation. Whoever will peruſe the Proteſt, and your Anſwer, will find that the Number of Falſhoods contained in the firſt, depend alone on the meer Credit of the Signers, who are now aſhamed to ſupport them openly; and therefore, as I am informed, refuſed to ſign your ſlanderous Anſwer, when it was tendered to them for that Purpoſe. The numerous additional Charges contained in the latter reſt ſolely on your ſlender Authority, who dare not own your Name. Have you or they, in either of the Pieces mentioned, referred to one Record, authentic Paper, Affidavit, credible Voucher, or other Proof whatever, to ſupport any of your Slanders? I do not therefore call for "further Proof," for as yet you have exhibited none. But I again call on you to prove a ſingle Charge injurious to Mr. Franklin's Reputation, either by any Record, authentic Paper, Affidavit, or other credible Evidence. And if you will openly undertake to do this, I doubt not but I ſhall be able to ſhow the Record, Paper, or other Evidence, to be either falſe or miſapplied, or that the Depondents are perjured. Certainly this Propoſal neither you, or the Proteſters, will refuſe to accept, as it naturally ariſes from your own, is conſiſtent with Engliſh Liberty (whoſe Advocate you, it ſeems, now pretend to be) and the Laws of your Country.

And although it is not my Purpoſe at preſent to make particular Enquiry into the Truth of the ſeveral Aſſertions contained in your Anſwer to the Remarks, yet, to convince you that I have nothing but Truth in View, and that I am determined to act fairly and openly, I will undertake to prove one of the moſt material Facts alledged by Mr. Franklin, viz. That it had been declared, written and printed, that the "King's little Finger we ſhould find hea"vier than the Proprietor's whole Loins;" which you, in Page 17 of your Anſwer, deny, and "call on Mr. Frank"lin, or any of his Adherents, to ſhew, or elſe to take "Shame to themſelves." I here then join Iſſue with you, and engage to prove the Facts, and to ſhow the Man who, though under the ſacred Ties of the Oaths of Allegiance to his Sovereign, has repeatedly had Boldneſs and Folly enough, ſeveral Years ago, and at the laſt Sitting of Aſſembly, in the Houſe to declare, "That in caſe a Change of "Government ſhould happen, that the King's little Finger "we ſhould find heavier (or thicker, if you pleaſe, for there "is no real Difference in the Meaning of the Terms) than "the Proprietor's whole Loins." Thus ſeditiouſly comparing His Majeſty to the Tyrant Rehoboam, 1ſt Kings, xii. 10, &c. and the mild Rule of the beſt of Sovereigns to the moſt violent Oppreſſion and arbitrary Power. With what View could this be done, but to alienate the Minds and Affections of His Maj-ſty's faithful Subjects from his royal Perſon and Government, and to make them the leſs uneaſy under the ignominious Slavery of private Subjects?

But you will aſk before whom this is to be done? Here,

Sir, we cannot differ. I entertain as high an Opinion of the "People of Pennſylvania," and I believe much higher, than you do. To their Tribunal I chearfully ſubmit. Let them determine the Facts, and, if you pleaſe, paſs the Cenſure too. The Repreſentatives of the People are now ſitting, before whom I will make and ſupport the Charge. The Doors of the Houſe may be thrown open, and ſuch of the Inhabitants as think proper may attend the Hearing. Should this Propoſal be agreeable to you, and the Proteſter it particularly concerns (which I confeſs, for very evident Reaſons, I much doubt) and he will ſo far deſcend from his elevated Station, as to hear and feel the Truth aſſerted and ſupported by a Man who is far from being aſhamed to own that he was once a Tradeſman of the City of Philadelphia; let him but appoint the Day, and give me Notice, and I will ſupport the Facts, or ſubmit to the Cenſure I ſhall deſerve on Failure.

Permit me to whiſper one Piece of Advice in your Ear. Tell your Friends, that their Money, their Offices and Pride, ſeem to have affected their Senſes: That they, whoſe Originals are, like the Fountains of the Nile, unknown, ought to treat with Tenderneſs and Caution the honeſt Traders and Mechanics of Philadelphia, many of whom are on a Level with, if not greatly ſuperior to, themſelves with reſpect to Family, Fortune, Underſtanding and Merit. Let them know that they have been out in their Policy, when they inſtructed you to endeavour to ridicule me on Account of my having been once a Tradeſman; for if it be diſgraceful to be an honeſt Farmer or Mechanic, I glory in my Diſgrace. Tell them that the Wealth, Strength, Liberty, and Proſperity of the Province, are owing to the Labour, Induſtry, Vigilance, and Steadineſs of theſe Men, and theſe chiefly. And tell them ſeriouſly one Thing more, that ſhould another Occaſion be given, their own Origins ſhall be traced as far as they can be diſcovered; where perhaps we ſhall find ſome at the petty Work of filing the brazen Wire, and forming the Heads of Pins; others at the laborious Toil of plying the Oars of an unwieldy Flat; others at puſhing the Awl, and drawing the waxen Thread through the greaſy Leather, or, as your preſent Poet Laureat has formerly obſerved,

"From patching Shoes, have roſe to patch the State;"

others with Difficulty emerging from the diſabled State of Bankruptcy; and others----------but I forbear the ignominious and infamous Part of the Catalogue. Nothing ſhall prevail on me, but the higheſt Aggravation, to tarniſh the Characters of the Living with the Crimes of the Dead.

--------Know this, that Merit is the only true Nobility;

"A Wit's a Feather, and a Chief's a Rod;
"An honeſt Man's the nobleſt Work of God."

and that this Nobility is as often to be found among the honeſt Farmers, Mechanics, and Tradeſmen of Pennſylvania, as among thoſe who affect the Character of Gentlemen, and aſſume the Airs of Quality. But if you dare not be thus free with them, for Fear of loſing your Bread, deſiſt, however, from ridiculing Mankind on Account of their Trades and Occupations, leſt you gnaw a File which will render you toothleſs, and incapable of biting for ever. Here I ſhould have reſted, had your malevolent and falſe Accuſations been confined to Mr. Franklin; but the Supplement to Mr. Bradford's Paper is a Proof that your perſonal Abuſe has been extended to every One who has had Reſolution, in Favour of the Liberties of their Country, to oppoſe the Faction you are engaged in, and their arbitrary Meaſures. I call it Faction, becauſe the Tendency of all their Actions has been to ſow Sedition and Diviſion among the People, that thereby they may ſupport their Maſters in the unjuſt and miſchievous Obſtructions which they have given to the Execution of the royal Orders, and maintain themſelves and their Dependants in thoſe lucrative Poſts, on which many of them depend for their daily Bread. In a Note to this Supplement, with many other Falſhoods, you have maliciouſly aſſerted, that the Tranſcripts which I had made of the old Warrants and Surveys, were "ordered "by the Aſſembly to be put into ſealed Cheſts, and lodged "in their Library Room, and that the Seals were ſoon af-"ter broke open by ſome body, and ſuch Papers taken out "as were thought proper." Thus baſely inſinuating that the Seals were broke open by myſelf, without any Authority, and to anſwer my private Purpoſes. But it is fortunate that this wicked Calumny is eaſily detected. The Fact is known to be thus; upon the Repeal of the Law authenticating thoſe Tranſcripts, the Aſſembly at one Sitting called for theſe Books and Papers, and ordered them to be locked and ſealed up in Trunks by a Committee. The Trunks were accordingly ſurrounded with Tape, and each Croſſing, and the Ends of the Tape, ſealed with the Seal of Mr. Fox, the preſent Speaker. In this Situation they remained in the Committee Room, until the Settlement of my Account rendered an Examination of the Books, and the Number of Lines and Drafts in each, neceſſary. Hereupon an Order of the Houſe was made, directing the Committee appointed to ſettle my Account to break the Seals, and open the Trunks, which was accordingly done by the Committee, and not till then were the Seals ever broken or defaced, or the Trunks unlocked. After the Examination of the Books, and proper Certificates of their being true Tranſcripts affixed to them, the Trunks were again locked, and there remain. This, Sir, is a true Relation of the Facts, which you and your Party have ſo baſely perverted to the wicked Deſign of aſperſing my private Character in their anonymous Supplement. The Practice of perverting Truth, and impoſing your Falſhoods on the good People of this Province, has long been the principal Weapon you wield. It is high Time an End was put to it; I therefore again call on every one of your Party to prove, that the Seals of thoſe Trunks were ever broke by any other Perſons whatever than the ſaid Committee; and if you do not, do you think you will not be eſteemed void of Honour and Conſcience, and a common Nuſance in the Community, which ought to be removed with the utmoſt Expedition? I am, with great Eſteem for the good People of Pennſylvania,

Their moſt obedient, and moſt humble Servant,
JOHN HUGHES,
Member of Aſſembly for Philadelphia County.

By Captain CHAMBERS, arrived at New-York from London, we have the following Advices, viz.

WARSAW, October 6.

CERTAIN letters received here, mention, that his Pruſſian Majeſty, out of his conſummate wiſdom in providing againſt all unforeſeen events, keeps his forces complete; notwithſtanding which, the reports ſpread, that hoſtilities have been committed between the Auſtrians and Pruſſians, are without foundation, and void of all truth.

Peterſburgh, Sept. 21. Mirowitz's trial was concluded yeſterday. He was condemned to be broke upon the wheel; but was told, that her Imperial Majeſty's mercy would be ſo far extended to him, as to mitigate his puniſhment into the leſs ſevere death of being beheaded: He is to be executed on Wedneſday next.

Sept. 28. M. Mirowitz, in purſuance of his ſentence, was publickly beheaded on Wedneſday laſt: He behaved at his execution, as he had done throughout the whole tranſaction, with the greateſt reſignation. Six of the ſoldiers and under officers, who were engaged with him, run the gantlope, the ſame day: They were ſo ſeverely whipped, that it is ſaid three of them are ſince dead. Many more are to be puniſhed. One Uſkakow, a Lieut. in the regiment of Welikolutz, who was privy to the deſign, was accidentally drowned in his way from Smolenſko.

Genoa, Oct. 6. Advice is received that the malecontents in Corſica continued the ſiege of San Fiorenza, and had erected two new batteries to puſh it with greater vigour. Two days ago the Republick ſent an armed bark, with 60 ſoldiers, and two other barks laden with flour, and other proviſions, to relieve the garriſon, and bring hither the ſick and wounded; they are to touch at Baſtia, to bring back part of that garriſon; and the Republick has hired ſome other veſſels to go to Corſica, to bring hither all the Genoeſe troops, as ſoon as the French are put into poſſeſſion of the places which they are to garriſon in that iſland.

From the Lower-Elbe, Oct. 6. As almoſt all the Powers of Europe are making warlike Preparations, the King of Denmark is taking Meaſures to ſecure his Dominions from Surprize; but it is certain that he entertains no Idea of Conqueſt. In caſe a new War ſhould break out, his Daniſh Majeſty will obſerve a ſtrict Neutrality, as he did in the laſt.

Laſt week a poor boy was ſtopped by a highwayman on Hadley common; the boy ſaid he had but a halfpenny in his pocket, but that a young man, his fellow ſervant, was about a mile behind him, with ſome meat in a bag, and under the meat he might find what he wanted: the highwayman rode off and ſtopt the young fellow; when, after tumbling the meat out of the bag into the road, he found at the bottom two halters.

"Some late myſterious movements of his Pruſſian Majeſty occaſion no ſmall ſpeculation among the politicians here. He is a friend to Poland, in amity with Ruſſia, in league with Vienna, and friendſhip with France. How to reconcile the two former with his Majeſty's ſtrong attachment to the Ottoman Porte, or the latter with his obligations to Great Britain, may perhaps appear a myſtery, which time only can unravel."

Mrs. Henrietta Wolfe, mother of the late brave General Wolfe, has left the ſum of two hundred pounds to the Magdalen charity.

It is ſaid Engliſh Women are in the greateſt Demand in the new ceded Iſlands, as the domeſtic Buſineſs is, for want of them, wholly committed to Negroes. At Liverpool Commiſſions have lately came over, to engage White Servants at any Rate.

The King of Pruſſia (ſays an authentic private letter from Warſaw) has written a complimentary letter to the new Monarch with his own hand; in which (for his Majeſty has ſhewn it to ſeveral foreign Miniſters) is this remarkable expreſſion: Your Majeſty muſt reflect, that as you enjoy a crown by election, and not by deſcent, the world will be more obſervant of your Majeſty's actions than any other Potentate in Europe, and it is but reaſonable. The latter being the mere effect of conſanguinity, no more is looked for (tho' much more is to be wiſhed) from him, than what men are endowed with in common: but from a man exalted by the voice of his equals from a ſubject to a King, from a man voluntarily elected to reign over thoſe by whom he was choſen, every thing is expected that can poſſibly deſerve and adorn a crown. Gratitude to his people is the firſt great duty of ſuch a Monarch, to them alone (under Providence) he is indebted that he is one. A King who is ſo by birth, if he acts degrogatory to his ſtation, is a ſatire only on himſelf; but an elected one, who behaves inconſiſtent with his dignity, reflects diſhonour alſo on his ſubjects. Your Majeſty, I am ſure, will pardon this warmth. The amiable part of the picture, is not ſo much a leſſon of what you ought to be, as a prophecy of what your Majeſty will be."

Extract of a letter from Madrid.

Phipps, came to the aſſiſtance of the Inhabitants; and by the activity and conduct of thoſe Gentlemen in particular, the fire was got under much ſooner than could otherwiſe have been expected. Various are the opinions on account of this diſaſter, but the moſt general is, that it was purpoſely ſet on fire by the people belonging to a french flag of truce then lying in the harbour.

PHILADELPHIA, January 10.

The GENERAL ASSEMBLY of this Province is now ſitting here.

On Thurſday laſt the Honourable Colonel BOUQUET arrived here from the Weſtward.

The Brig Lydia, Capt. Callender, from Liſbon, of and for this Port, after driving about ſome Days in the Ice in our Bay, was forced aſhore on Dunks's Bar, where ſhe was left full of Water on Wedneſday the ſecond Inſtant. Five of the People, in the Long-boat, reached the Shore, much Froſt-bitten, at the Mouth of Stow Creek. Capt. Callender, James Connor Mate, an Indian Boy Pilot, and two Seamen, put off from the Brig in the Yawl, ſoon after the Long-boat, but meeting with much Difficulty from the Ice near the Shore, were ſeen to put back for the Veſſel.

The Brig Monckton, Captain Boon, from this Harbour for Jamaica, went aſhore on Sunday, the 30th ult. on the lower Part of Dunks's Bar, and was left by the Captain and People the Wedneſday following, expecting the great Quantities of Ice would have cut her to Pieces that Night; but it is thought ſhe drove off with the high Tide on Friday Night, and has not been heard of ſince.

The Schooner Polly, Captain Avery, from North-Carolina for this Place, was left in the Ice, below the Mouth of Cohanſey Creek; the People were taken out by a Boat the Sixth Inſtant, having no Proviſions left on board.

We are deſired by a Gentleman to inſert the following Receipt for Perſons that may happen to be Froſt-bitten, in this ſevere Seaſon; the Perſon has relieved many by it, and is certain of its being an infallible Cure.

In two or three Days they will feel no Pain, and in five or ſix be quite cured.

THIS is to give Notice, that the Subſcriber intends to leave off the Lumber Trade or Buſineſs next Spring, and in order to ſettle his Affairs, hereby requeſts all thoſe that ſtand indebted to him by Bond, Bill, or Book Debt, to make Payment before the firſt of March next, or elſe he will be under the diſagreeable Neceſſity of putting the Accompts into the Attorneys Hands.

Mr. HALL,

AS there is the greateſt Reaſon to believe that there are, at preſent, many poor Families in, and about, this City, who are, in a great Meaſure, deſtitute of the common Neceſſaries of Life, but whoſe Modeſty, perhaps, hinders them from making their Neceſſities known; it is hoped the good People of Philadelphia (ever remarkable for ſhowing a noble Spirit, and charitable Diſpoſition, in Times of Diſtreſs) will take ſome Pains to enquire into the Circumſtances of the ſuppoſed Poor in their reſpective Neighbourhoods, and freely give them a little out of that Plenty they may be bleſt with, to comfort them till this inclement Winter is over, when by getting Employ, which cannot now be had, they will be able to ſupport themſelves, and helpleſs Children.------Your inſerting the following Extract from the Spectator, on CHARITY, it is not doubted, will be of Service, by putting the Well-diſpoſed in mind of their unhappy Fellow Creatures, who are now ſuffering, and ſhowing them how eaſily they may contribute to their Relief.

I SHOULD propoſe it as a Rule to every one who is provided with any Competency of Fortune more than ſufficient for the Neceſſaries of Life, to lay aſide a certain Proportion of his Income for the Uſe of the Poor. This I would look upon as an Offering to Him who has a Right to the whole, for the Uſe of thoſe whom, in the Paſſage hereafter mentioned, he has deſcribed as his own Repreſentatives upon Earth. At the ſame time we ſhould manage our Charity with ſuch Prudence and Caution, that we may not hurt our own Friends or Relations, whilſt we are doing Good to thoſe who are Strangers to us.

This may poſſibly be explained better by an Example than by a Rule.

EUGENIUS is a Man of an univerſal Good-nature, and generous beyond the Extent of his Fortune; but withal ſo prudent, in the Oeconomy of his Affairs, that what goes out in Charity, is made up by good Managment. Eugenius has what the Wold calls Two Hundred Pounds a Year; but never values himſelf above Nineſcore, as not thinking he has a Right to the tenth Part, which he always appropriates to charitable Uſes. To this Sum he frequently makes other voluntary Additions, inſomuch that in a good Year, for ſuch he accounts thoſe in which he has been able to make greater Bounties than ordinary, he has given above twice that Sum to the Sickly and Indigent. Eugenius preſcribes to himſelf many particular Days of Faſting and Abſtinence, in order to increaſe his private Bank of Charity, and ſets aſide what would be the current Expences of thoſe Times for the Uſe of the Poor. He often goes afoot where his Buſineſs calls him, and at the End of his Walk has given a Shilling, which in his ordinary Methods of Expence would have gone for Coach-hire, to the firſt neceſſitous Perſon that has fallen in his Way. I have known him, when he has been going to a Play or an Opera, divert the Money which was deſigned for that Purpoſe, upon an Object of Charity whom he has met with in the Street; and afterwards paſs his Evening in a Coffee-houſe, or at a Friend's Fire-ſide, with much greater Satisfaction to himſelf than he could have received from the moſt exquiſite Entertainments of the Theatre. By theſe Means he is generous, without impoveriſhing himſelf, and enjoys his Eſtate, by making it the Property of others.

There are few Men ſo cramped in their private Affairs, who may not be charitable after this Manner, without any Diſadvantage to themſelves, or Prejudice to their Families. It is but ſometimes ſacrificing a Diverſion or Convenience to the Poor, and turning the uſual Courſe of our Expences into a better Channel. This is, I think, not only the moſt prudent and convenient, but the moſt meritorious Piece of Charity, which we can put in Practice. By this Method we in ſome Meaſure ſhare the Neceſſities of the Poor, at the ſame time that we relieve them, and make ourſelves not only their Patrons, but their Fellow-ſufferers.

Sir Thomas Brown, in the laſt Part of his Religio Medici, in which he deſcribes his Charity in ſeveral Heroick Inſtances, and with a noble Heat of Sentiments, mentions that Verſe in the Proverbs of Solomon, He that giveth to the Poor, lendeth to the Lord: "There is more Rhetorick "in that one Sentence, ſays he, than in a Library of Ser-"mons; and indeed if thoſe Sentences were underſtood "by the Reader, with the ſame Emphaſis as they are de-"livered by the Author, we needed not thoſe Volumes "of Inſtructions, but might be honeſt by an Epitome."

This Paſſage in Scripture is indeed wonderfully perſuaſive; but I think the ſame Thought is carried much farther in the New Teſtament, where our Saviour tells us, in a moſt pathetick Manner, that he ſhall hereafter regard the Clothing of the Naked, the Feeding of the Hungry, and the Viſiting of the Impriſoned, as Offices done to himſelf, and reward them accordingly. Purſuant to thoſe Paſſages in Holy Scripture, I have ſomewhere met with the Epitaph of a charitable Man, which has very much pleaſed me. I cannot recollect the Words, but the Senſe of it is to this Purpoſe; What I ſpent I loſt; what I poſſeſſed is left to others; what I gave away remains with me.

Since I am thus inſenſibly engaged in Sacred Writ, I cannot forbear making an Extract of ſeveral Paſſages, which I have always read with great Delight in the Book of Job. It is the Account which that Holy Man gives of his Behaviour in the Days of his Proſperity, and, if conſidered only as a human Compoſition, is a finer Picture of a charitable and good natured Man, than is to be met with in any other Author.

"Oh that I were as in Months paſt, as in the Days when God preſerved me: When his Candle ſhined upon my Head, and when by his Light I walked through Darkneſs: When the Almighty was yet with me: When my Children were about me: When I waſhed my Steps with Butter, and the Rock poured out Rivers of Oil.

"When the Ear heard me, then it bleſſed me; and when the Eye ſaw me, it gave Witneſs to me. Becauſe I delivered the Poor that cried, and the Fatherleſs, and him that had none to help him. The Bleſſing of him that was ready to periſh came upon me, and I cauſed the Widow's Heart to ſing for Joy. I was Eyes to the Blind, and Feet was I to the Lame; I was a Father to the Poor, and the Cauſe which I knew not I ſearched out. Did not I weep for him that was in Trouble? Was not my Soul grieved for the Poor? Let me be weighed in an even Balance, that God may know mine Integrity. If I did deſpiſe the Cauſe of my Man Servant, or of my Maid Servant, when they contended with me; what then ſhall I do when God riſeth up? and when he viſiteth, what ſhall I anſwer him? Did not he that made me in the Womb, make him? and did not one faſhion us in the Womb? If I have withheld the Poor from their Deſire, or have cauſed the Eyes of the Widow to fail: Or have eaten my Morſel myſelf alone, and the Fatherleſs hath not eaten thereof: If I have ſeen any periſh for Want of Cloathing, or any Poor without Covering: If his Loins have not bleſſed me, and if he were not warmed with the Fleece of my Sheep: If I have lift up my Hand againſt the Fatherleſs, when I ſaw my Help in the Gate; then let mine Arm fall from my Shoulder-blade, and mine Arm be broken from the Bone. If I have rejoiced at the Deſtruction of him that hated me, or lift up myſelf when Evil found him; (Neither have I ſuffered my Mouth to ſin, by wiſhing a Curſe to his Soul.) The Stranger did not lodge in the Street; but I opened my Doors to the Traveller. If my Land cry againſt me, or that the Furrows likewiſe thereof complain: If I have eaten the Fruits thereof without Money, or have cauſed the Owners thereof to loſe their Life; Let Thiſtles grow inſtead of Wheat, and Cockle inſtead of Barley."

 It may be remembered, that three Years ago, a Number of the worthy Inhabitants of this Place, moſt readily united in applying for Contributions towards the Relief of the Diſtreſſed, when a conſiderable Sum was raiſed, which was carefully laid out on the proper Objects, and proved a ſeaſonable Support to many, that muſt otherwiſe have greatly ſuffered; it is therefore humbly hoped, that a Union of the ſame Kind will now be immediately promoted, as there is no Time to be loſt.

By the Harriot Packet Boat, Captain Robinſon, arrived at New-York, in eight Weeks and ſix Days from Falmouth, we have the following Advices, viz.

WARSAW, October 6.

THE letter which the King of Pruſſia lately wrote to the Prince Primate, in anſwer to that whereby this Prelate notified the election of Count Poniatowſki to the throne, was to the following effect.

"Couſin,

"You have given me particular ſatisfaction, in having acquainted me by your letter of the 7th inſtant, of the unanimous election which placed Count Poniatowſki on the throne of Poland. It is an event in which I take the greater intereſt, as it correſponds no leſs with my own inclinations than with the true intereſt of that kingdom; which I had in view when I recommended the reigning ſovereign. Being thoroughly ſenſible of the regard which has been paid to my recommendation, I congratulate your Highneſs and the Republic on this election; which not only of itſelf, but by the manner in which it was made, does infinite honour to that nation, and promiſes, at the ſame time, a moſt auſpicious reign, for which I prefer my ardent and ſincere wiſhes; pray God keep you under his ſacred protection.

Your affectionate

Berlin, Sept. 14, 1764. FREDERICK."

Warſaw, Oct. 7. The third of this month the Count de Soltyke, Caſtellan of Warſaw, delivered to the King a letter from the Biſhop of Cracow, in which that Prelate acknowledges the legality of the election, and retracts the Manifeſto he had given in againſt the Diet of convocation. His Majeſty received this two-fold declaration with that goodneſs and magnanimity natural to him.

The advices from the frontiers of this kingdom, as well on the ſide of Turkey as Sileſia, bring, that all is quiet there.

Hamburgh, Oct. 16. The new King of Poland confers frequently with the Primate and Senators, on the ſteps to be taken with the Courts of Verſailles and Vienna, for prevailing upon them to acknowledge him. In the mean time there is ſome foundation to believe, that it will coſt him much leſs trouble to ſucceed with the former than the latter. The declaration which the Court of France made ſome time after the death of Auguſtus III. and what paſſed afterwards between the Primate and the Marquis de Paulmy, are the circumſtances which give riſe to this conjecture.

Conſtantinople, Sept. 1. The Porte continues ſending troops and ammunition towards the frontiers of Poland and Ruſſia. The Reſident of the latter court has diſpatched an expreſs, which carries to the Empreſs the reſult of a conference which that Reſident has had with the Secretary of the Grand Viſir, at the iſſue of an extraordinary Council held the 20th ult. in preſence of the Sultan, the Grand Viſir, and the Mufti. After the return of this courier, we ſhall be better able to judge of the part which the Porte will think proper to take in the preſent conjuncture.

Fontainbleau, Oct. 13. The Count de Guerchy is furniſhed with ample inſtructions to terminate finally, with the Engliſh Miniſtry, the different negotiations which are ſtill on the tapis between the two Courts.

Warſaw, Oct. 13. The King continues to give audience to all that preſent themſelves; and, from the facility and judgment with which he gives his orders, it might be ſuppoſed that he had been ten years upon the throne.

The general confederacy which has united with that of Lithuania, has confirmed the judgment of the latter againſt Prince Radzivill, Woywode of Wilda.

The Prince Primate, who has been dangerouſly ill of an inflammation, occaſioned by the pain he underwent from the ſtone, is much relieved, and ſeems at preſent to be out of danger.

Brunſwick, Oct. 19. His Serene Highneſs our Hereditary Prince, who ſtaid ſome time with his uncle the King of Pruſſia in Sileſia, and afterwards at Potzdam, returned here the 15th inſtant in perfect health. Her Royal Highneſs, his conſort, advances happily in her pregnancy.

Cadiz, Oct. 2. Letters from Gibraltar adviſe, that the Sieur Demetrio Coletty, the Dutch Conſul at Tetuan, who was ordered by the King of Morocco to quit his dominions within three days, arrived at that port the 26th of laſt month.

Florence, Oct. 12. The Dey of Algiers has declared to our government, that he never had any deſign to break the peace with Tuſcany, and that his behaviour to the Conſul of this State was intended on one hand to prevent the abuſe that had been made of the Imperial Flag, by ſuffering nations to make uſe of it that were at war with the Algerines; and on the other, to puniſh the Conſul for ſome ill behaviour upon the occaſion. Certainly no act of hoſtility has yet been committed by the Algerines againſt the ſubjects of Tuſcany.

Toulon, Oct. 6. A copy of a treaty is handed about here, ſaid to be concluded the 6th of Auguſt laſt, between his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty and the Republic of Genoa, by virtue of which the Genoeſe are to be aſſiſted with a body of French troops, to be employed in the iſland of Corſica: This treaty conſiſts of ſeventeen articles, the ſubſtance of which is as follows, viz.

By the firſt article it is ſtipulated, That the King ſhall ſend a body of his troops into Corſica, to protect and preſerve Baſtia, and the ſeveral other places belonging to the Republic.

By the ſecond article it is agreed, That thoſe troops ſhall be employed, jointly with thoſe of the Republic, during the term of four years.

Thirdly, That the Republic ſhall maintain its ſovereignty in all reſpects, except what relates to the military, which ſhall be obſerved jointly with thoſe of France, who ſhall have a commander in chief of their own nation, without being ſubject, on any pretence whatever, to be joined with any Genoeſe troops, or commanded by any of their generals whatever.

Fourthly, That whereſoever any of the French troops may be employed, they ſhall not be ſubject to any Commander in Chief but one of their own nation, and in caſe of his deceaſe, to his ſucceſſor.

Fifthly, That the troops of the moſt Chriſtian King ſhall judge and execute by a Court Martial, the orders of the French General, their Commandant, with reſpect to the Offences of the inhabitants of the places they ſhall occupy, and which ſhall concern the military, or regard the preſervation of thoſe places, without the Civil Tribunals having any power to call them in queſtion.

Sixthly, That all officers, ſoldiers, or other French, belonging to the troops, ſhall not be liable either to be arreſted or judged by the Civil Tribunals of the Genoeſe; but that they ſhall be referred to the judgment of the Commandant-General.

In conſequence of the ſeventh, the French General ſhall have the power of diminiſhing or reinforcing the garriſons, and ſhall not be obliged to give account thereof to any except his Majeſty alone.

Genoa, Oct. 6. According to letters received from Corſica, the rebels ſeemed preparing to diſpute the debarkation of the French troops. The Government have ordered the Tribunal of the Republic to be removed from Baſtia, which gives occaſion to ſuppoſe, that the ſupreme authority will be reſigned to the Commander, and that a vicegerent will be ſubordinate to him.

Hamburgh, Oct. 25. We have juſt received advice, that two couriers ſet off from Berlin the 18th inſt. charged with the following diſpatches; one to the Cham of the Crim Tartars, the other to Conſtantinople: They are both ſaid to be relative to the affairs of Poland, as his Pruſſian Majeſty has nothing more at heart, than to render the acceſſion of Staniſlaus III. agreeable to the Porte.

Franckfort, Oct. 23. According to our letters from Holland, there are three new objects which engage the attention of the Republick. 1. The flouriſhing ſtate of the Britiſh Fiſhery in the North Seas; 2dly, The reſtoration of the Eaſt-India Company, eſtabliſhed by the King of Pruſſia at Embden; and 3dly, The continual preparations that are making by the maritime powers.

Paris, Oct. 18. In conſequence of the encouragement given to reduced officers to embark for the Weſt-Indies, 29 Captains, 43 Lieutenants, and 18 Chef d'Eſcadres, ſet off the 10th inſtant for Breſt, where a frigate waits to carry over ſtores and paſſengers for Cayenne.

Portſmouth, October 21. We hear that 20 old men in our Dock-yard have been diſcharged lately, on ſalaries of 20l. per annum.

We likewiſe hear that the labourers, that have been diſcharged from the duty of watching in the Dock-yard, have half the pay of the above duty continued to them.

LONDON.

Oct. 25. People who have come from different parts of the country ſay, the farmers confeſs they never had ſuch a harveſt as the laſt, nor ſuch a ſeed-time as the preſent.

Oct. 27. According to letters from Gibraltar, on the 22d of September, the Emperor of Morocco ſent an order to the Dutch Conſul at Tetuan to depart the country in three days, under pain of death on non-compliance. The Conſul, ignorant of the motive of ſuch an extraordinary command, retired on board a ſhip in the road, after having depoſited his effects at the houſe of the Engliſh Conſul; and ſending a courier to require an explanation of this affair.

Letters from Holland mention, that the improved ſkill, and military diſcipline of the forces under Coſſim Aly Caun, has been diſcovered to be, in a great meaſure, owing to the number of Europeans now in his pay, particularly French, Spaniſh, and Dutch officers, whom that tyrant has drawn over by large rewards, and high promiſes. Four engineers, late of Pondicherry, are ſaid to have 1000 rupees per month; and to armourers, gunſmiths, ſwordcutlers, and other perſons ſkilled in the conſtruction of military weapons, he gives 500 rupees bounty.

By recent Letters from France, it appears that the whole value of furs, beaver and deer-ſkins, imported into that kingdom from Louiſiana, and the little they ſtill poſſeſs on the banks of the Miſſiſippi, ſince the peace, does not exceed 25,000l. whereas during their late poſſeſſion of Canada, they annually imported from that province only, in the above articles, to the amount of 135,000l.

Very large orders are now lying in Ruſſia for naval ſtores for the uſe of the French marine.

We hear an additional duty will ſoon be laid on the foreign importation of hemp, hempſeed and flax, particularly from Ruſſia and the Baltick; great quantities, the growth of our own American colonies, being expected over early next ſpring.

We are informed his Excellency Count La Lippe is charged with the execution of a ſpecial commiſſion from our Court to that of Portugal.

Great numbers of new muſkets, horſe piſtols, &c. are every day proving at the Eaſt-India Company warehouſes, near Whitechapel road. It is ſaid thirty thouſand ſtand of fire-arms will be ſhipt among their other military ſtores for Bengal.

It is now ſaid, that for very prudential reaſons, never leſs than five regiments on the Britiſh eſtabliſhment will from henceforth be kept in commiſſion in the Provinces of New York, Pennſylvania, and New-England.

It is expected, that Penſacola in Florida, and two Britiſh Iſlands in the Weſt-Indies, will ſpedily be declared free ports.

We hear a liſt of all ſuch goods as are hereafter to be deemed contraband in any of the colonies of North-America, are now making out, and will be ſent over by the next packet; according to which his Majeſty's ſea and land officers, collectors of the cuſtoms, &c. are to regulate their conduct with regard to all future ſeizures.

Oct. 30. They write from Hamburgh, that the Count de Woronzow, Great Chancellor of Ruſſia, who is to take his route by the way of Berlin, will paſs beſt part of the winter there, and that it is expected ſome important affairs will be brought on the carpet during his ſtay in that capital.

His Majeſty has been pleaſed to conſtitute and appoint the Hon. Major General Thomas Gage to be General and Commander in Chief of his Majeſty's forces in North-America, in the room of the Hon. Major General Sir Jeffery Amherſt, Knight of the Bath.

It is now ſaid, that France has totally relinquiſhed all claim to Turk's Iſland, by virtue of ſome conceſſions on the part of Great Britain; and, as this place is ſo materially advantageous to our fiſheries, it is ſaid, ſome ſtrong fortifications will be ſoon erected thereon.

The circulation of copper money in North-America, has for ſome months paſt been increaſing in proportion as that of their paper currency has been called in. Some tons of farthings are now ordered in commiſſion from Philadelphia and New York, for the benefit of ſmall change in the retail trade; which, it is thought, will ſoon occaſion a new dye at the Tower.

We hear that three diviſions of marines are ordered to be completed, as in time of war; for which ſome marching regiments are to be reduced.

Nov. 1. It is now reported, that a negotiation with his Excellency the Count de Guerchy, for the entire purchaſe of New Orleans, and the French part of Louiſiana, to England, is on the carpet, and far advanced.

Two Boards of Trade have been held this week on affairs of importance.

It is ſaid the ſum of thirty thouſand pounds will be granted next ſeſſions, for the better rendering the baſon of Penſacola one of the beſt receptacles for trade and ſhipping on the Britiſh American continent.

It is ſaid, from the nature of divers late memorials from the Britiſh Weſt-India planters, there will be an abſolute neceſſity to take off ſome of the preſent high duties on ſugar, in order to preſerve our balance at European markets in this commodity, now underſold very conſiderably both by the French and Dutch.

There are four men of war now fitting out for the protection of the African trade, which will ſoon ſail for that coaſt.

The Suſanna, Brewiſher, from Virginia to Hull, who arrived in the Downs a few days ago, is ſince entirely loſt on the Kentiſh Knock.

Nov. 3. We hear, that on a Memorial being preſented by the Earl of Hertford to the French Court, ſetting forth the illegal proceedings of the Governor of Goree, in attempting to eſtabliſh a ſettlement near the river Gambia, in Africa, that Court has declared its diſapprobation of his proceedings, and he is recalled to give an account of his irregular behaviour.

A letter from Peterſburgh informs, that the Empreſs of Ruſſia has nobly rewarded the Captain and Lieutenant, who ſo faithfully checked the ſedition in which the unfortunate Prince Ivan loſt his life. The former has been made a General, and his companion a Lieutenant-Colonel, excluſive of penſions for life, and preſents to the value of 10,000 rubles.

On Wedneſday was held a Board of Trade, when ſeveral American petitions were conſidered, and agreed to be laid before the enſuing parliament.

This morning there was a Cabinet Council at St. James's, after which two foreign diſpatches were ſent off.

They write from France, that excluſive of the men of war and troops deſtined for Corſica, the Genoeſe agents have contracted with ſome principal merchants for ſix ſtout ſhips, formerly privateers, to carry 20 guns each, and be navigated and victualled for ſix months. It is ſaid they are to cruize in the ſtraits of St. Boniface, which ſeparates Sardinia from Corſica.

We are informed that the late very unjuſtifiable, arbitrary, and illegal proceedings of the French Courts of Admiralty in the Weſt-Indies, in condemning ſuch Britiſh merchant ſhips as have the misfortune to approach their coaſts, will be properly reſented, in conſequence of certain ſpirited reſolutions now taking for the obtaining redreſs to his Majeſty's ſubjects in that part of the world.

A gentleman lately arrived from Dunkirk ſays, that though the ſuperficials of the works are demoliſhed, the foundations remain viſible, about three feet under low-water mark; and he counted four large ſtore-houſes, containing the materials of the greateſt conſequence, taken from thence.

The propoſed repeal of the ſeptennial act is now looked upon to be one of thoſe Utopian ſyſtems, which, from the preſent ſituation of the times, is rather to be wiſhed for than expected.

By recent letters from Grenadoes, there is advice, that 43 ſugar-works have been erected in that iſland, by Britiſh ſubjects, ſince the peace.

Nov. 6. We are credibly informed, the merchants of the three American colonies, New-England, Pennſylvania, and New-York, by the late mail, have remonſtrated to the miniſtry, in very moving terms, againſt the cruel and illegal proceedings of the French governors in the Weſt-Indies, on account of their behaviour to ſuch Britiſh ſubjects as have the misfortune, either thro' ſtreſs of weather, or other involuntary cauſes, to approach their coaſts; in which caſe confiſcation and impriſonment enſue. It is ſaid this petition, couched in the ſtrongeſt terms, will occaſion ſuch a fleet to be conſtantly kept cruizing in the Weſt-Indies, that ſhall not only revenge the paſt, but prevent all future inſults to the meaneſt of his Majeſty's ſubjects in that part of the world.

Letters from Frankfort, of the 24th ult. adviſe, that her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Mary of England, Conſort to the reigning Landgrave of Heſſe Caſſel, having given her eldeſt ſon, the Hereditary Prince, poſſeſſion of the county of Hanau-Muntzenburgh, on the 16th; on the 22d his Serene Highneſs, with her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs of Denmark his Conſort, made their publick entry into Hanau, with great ſtate and grandeur, amidſt the acclamations of his ſubjects.

Some letters from Great Poland ſay, it is aſſerted there, that the King of the Romans, and the King of Poland, are to marry two ſiſters, Princeſſes of Saxony, daughters of Auguſtus III. late King of Poland.

They write from Peterſburgh of the 5th ult. that the young Lady Woronzow, who was the favourite of the late Emperor of Ruſſia, has obtained leave from the Empreſs to return from her baniſhment, and to reſide on her father's eſtate.

They write form Corſica, that ſeveral officers of the malecontents, ſeduced by motives of gain, formed a reſolution to maſſacre Paſcal Paoli, who is now arrived at 80 years of age. They were aſſembled at a publick houſe to concert meaſures for the execution of their deſign, where they let drop ſome unguarded expreſſions, which eſcaped in the warmth of their debates, and which were overheard by the maſter of the houſe, who gave information thereof. The conſpirators were arreſted, and carried before Paoli, who addreſſed himſelf to them thus: 'Gentlemen, although you propoſed to take away my life, which gives me a 'lawful power over yours, I will not take that advantage. Return then in peace, and examine from this moment, whether I 'deſerve your enmity. I am ready to ſubmit, if you find a ſingle 'article to lay to my charge.' The officers in confuſion confeſſed their crime, ſhewed a ſincere repentance, acknowledged they were corrupted to the undertaking this baſe purpoſe, but without naming their employers. Paoli diſplayed farther magnanimity, in not preſſing them to a diſcovery. A rare example of moderation, which will be more admired than imitated.

Nov. 8. A letter from Paris, dated Oct. 26, ſays, "A courier is arrived at Fontainbleau from Vienna, who is ſaid to have brought diſpatches relating to the affairs of Poland, and particularly the laſt election. It ſeems that the two courts are concerting upon a point, viz. Whether, and how, they ſhall acknowledge the new-elected King. Our court, if it does acknowledge him, will certainly inſiſt upon ſome ſatisfaction with regard to what paſſed between our Ambaſſador and the Prince Primate."

Laſt Saturday died, in Long's-court, St. Martin's-ſtreet, Leiceſter-Fields, Mr. Aaron Bartholomew Trueheart, of Virginia, who had the care of the Cherokee Indians now in town.

They write from Paris, that the Chevalier de Turgot, Governor-General of Guiana, ſailed from Rochelle the latter end of laſt month, on board the Bricole man of war, of 50 guns, accompanied with another ſhip of war of 60 guns, with all ſorts of proviſions. He has taken only 300 ſoldiers, but a very great number of troops will ſoon follow.

Extract of a letter from Hamburgh, Oct. 19.

"By our laſt accounts from Peterſburgh, we learn, that the Empreſs had put off, for ſome weeks longer, her return to that capital. Some extraordinary councils have been held upon affairs of the laſt importance to the peace and proſperity of that Empire. The bad ſtate of health in which the Grand Duke has been, for ſome time paſt, has been the principal ſubject of theſe deliberations. It is ſaid, that his Highneſs labours under a conſumptive diſorder, which gives little or no hopes of his recovery, and that his Phyſicians begin to deſpair of the ſucceſs of their remedies. The Senate, duly informed of this, have entreated the Empreſs to take ſuch meaſures as her wiſdom and prudence muſt naturally dictate on this critical occaſion, and have expreſſed their deſire that her Imperial Majeſty would, conformably to the laws and conſtitutions of the Empire, name a ſucceſſor to the imperial throne, in caſe of the demiſe of the Grand Duke."

Extract of a letter from an Engliſh Gentleman at Corſica.

"The firmneſs of Paoli is really aſtoniſhing; and that Chief, in his moſt embarraſſing circumſtances, continues to exhibit a compoſure that might do honour to the greateſt General. No ſooner was it known for certain, that an embarkation of French troops were actually to take place for the aſſiſtance of the Genoeſe, than three more armed veſſels were ſent to join the reſt in the Streight of Sardinia. A freſh garriſon was ordered into the fortreſſes of Brando and Ebra Longa; and ſuch diſpoſitions made as were thought neceſſary in ſo preſſing a conjuncture. In the mean time the brave iſlanders have ſworn not to ſurvive the loſs of their liberty; and the ſolemn oaths taken at Corte eighteen years ago, has again been renewed on this occaſion.

Authentick accounts from Leghorn adviſe, that the Corſican Malecontents can bring fifty thouſand men into the field, twenty thouſand of which are veteran troops, and inured to action, and the whole, by means of ſome late underhand ſupplies, are well armed.

It is expected the final reſolution of the French and Spaniards, with regard to their payment of Canada bills, ranſom of Manillas, and maintenance of their priſoners in England, will ſoon be made known to the parties concerned, as it is ſaid anſwers have lately been tranſmitted by the Britiſh Ambaſſadors to both theſe Courts, relating thereto.

We are informed a reſolution has lately been taken to erect ſome ſtrong fortifications on the iſland of Anticoſti, in the Gulph of St. Laurence, which from ſome late ſurveys has been found to be a place of great conſequence, in caſe of any future war.

We are informed a ſcheme for impoſing a general ſtamp duty in North-America is now finiſhed, upon a new plan, againſt the enſuing ſeſſions; the profits to be applied for the better ſecurity and defence of the colonies.

It is ſaid a new academy, in the manner of that at Woolwich, is to be endowed at New-York, for the future training up young gentlemen in the art of engineering, and to ſupply the artillery of that and the neighbouring provinces, without being under the neceſſity of being obliged to have freſh draughts from the royal artillery of England.

Nov. 10. Some letters from Berlin ſay, that the Hereditary Prince of Brunſwick is appointed General of Horſe in his Pruſſian Majeſty's ſervice.

Advices from Genoa of the 6th ult. import, that the government hath ordered a Tribunal to be eſtabliſhed in Corſica, the ſeat of which is to be fixed at Baſtia, and is to repreſent to the Republic; from whence it is conjectured, that the Commandant of the French troops will preſide at this Tribunal, and will have a Vice-gerent under him.

We are credibly informed, that by virtue of the diſcretionary powers lately tranſmitted to his Majeſty's commanders in the Weſt Indies, in caſe of any future inſult, reprizals are to be made on the ſubjects of ſuch powers who have been guilty; where effects thus ſeized, are to be condemned by a court martial, and ſold till full ſatisfaction is made to the parties injured, the balance, if any, to be remitted to the French or Spaniſh Governor at the neareſt port.

The Cygnet Frigate, Capt. Leſlie, bound from hence to New-London, is put into Rhode-Iſland, having been out 14 Days. She met with very bad Weather, in which her Pinnace was waſhed off the Deck.

W.---They were obliged to bring to, the 25th of laſt Month, at 6 in the Morning.---The Gale continued very hard two Days and three Nights, without any Alteration but that of a great Sea.---The Night of the 26th it laid her down ſo much that her Ballaſt ſhifted---the Mainſail filled with Water, and as the Sea made a Breach over her, it filled the Foreſail, with Difficulty they cut away the Mainſail and Boom, which righted her a good deal, and then trimmed the Hold.---They judged themſelves in Lat. 37-00.

On Sunday laſt Captain Fiſher, late of the Sloop Sally, arrived here by Land from North-Carolina. He ſailed from Penſacola for this Place the 20th of October, but met with a hard Gale of Wind, in which his Veſſel ſprung a Leak, and made ſo much Water, that they were obliged to keep both Pumps going. POTSDAM, October 13.

THE 29th of last month his Majesty gave a grand entertainment on account of the anniversary of the birth day of the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick; and in the evening there was a comic Opera.

Brest, Sept. 29. The cod fishery has been so plentiful, and so advantageous to the adventurers, that those of St. Malo have gained cent. per cent.

Genoa, Oct. 6. Three of our armed pinks sailed the day before yesterday, with threescore soldiers, and ammunition, for St. Fiorenzo. The government has received letters from the Commandant of that place, importing, that the enemies had raised new batteries; that there were many sick in the garrison; and that it was feared the rebels would take advantage of that circumstance to attack the town before the arrival of the French troops.

Warsaw, Oct. 6. The King having nothing so much at heart as the good of the Publick, is using all his endeavours to effect, at the approaching Dyet of Convocation, the establishment of a stable and permanent form of Government. Many sensible people, however, are of opinion, that this form, be it what it will, must be extremely defective, whilst the LIBERUM VETO continues to exist in its full extent. And what is to be done? This privilege is regarded by the greatest part of the Polish Noblesse as their PALLADIUM; and there is no likelihood that they will be easily induced to renounce it. We foresee, therefore, that the approaching Dyet will be as remarkable for the importance of the objects which will be debated, as by the diversity of sentiments which will reign there. In the mean time, the King may hope for every thing, from the confidence which the nation justly places in his Majesty's sentiments and dispositions.

Dresden, Oct. 16. The Protestants of this city, who heretofore performed divine service in a private house, have obtained leave to build a church.

Hanau, Oct 23. On the 13th instant Prince William, Hereditary Prince of Hesse Cassel, was pleased to signify by his letters patent, that her Royal Highness the Princess Mary his mother, our regent, had that day given up to him the reins of government of this county.

Hamburgh, Oct. 23. The Chamberlain Gudowitsch, the favourite of the late Peter III. of Russia, who has been reported to have died, or been in Siberia, is now said to be at Paris.

Lisbon, Oct. 19. They write from Lagos, in the province of Algarve, that on the night between the 20th and 21st they had a violent storm, which lasted 18 hours. All the country was overflowed; houses, mills, and a great number of trees, were swept away by the force of the water; and numbers of persons were killed by the lightning. After the tempest was over, a great number of rabbits and birds were found dead in the woods and mountains.

Madrid, Oct. 10. His Majesty's amnesty has been attended with so good success, that 1800 deserters have already come in from France and Portugal. They are to be embarked at St. Lucar for the Spanish settlements in the West-Indies.

Genoa, Oct. 13. By advices received this week from Corsica, the malecontents continued their operations against St. Fiorenzo. The vessels sent from hence with succours, and a reinforcement of soldiers for the garrison, were forced by stress of weather into Porto Ferraio.

Segovia, Oct. 15. The regiment of Soria, in garrison at Barcelona, together with the two regiments of Catalan, Fuzileers (or Miquelets) have received orders to march to the frontiers of Portugal.

Last Saturday his Catholick Majesty, attended by the Prince of Asturias, the Infant Don Lewis, and the young Princes, came hither to see the military school established by Count Gazola, Master of the Ordnance, who had fortified a camp, with different redoubts, for the instruction of the Prince of Asturias, as well as for the Cadets; and the attack of the lines was made in all its forms by the volunteers of Arragon, and defended by the two battalions of the regiment of artillery. His Catholick Majesty expressed great satisfaction at the performance.

Florence, Oct. 20. The preparations for the arrival here of the Archduke are carrying on with great diligence, and at a vast expence; a very considerable addition has been made to the palace, for the convenience of the Archdutchess, and the ground has been marked out for a large publick chapel contiguous to it. A whole new wing is building for the use of the guard which is to attend the Prince, and is called la Garde Noble, which consists at present of 50 gentlemen, and will, it is said, be encreased.

Lisbon, Oct. 20. Senhor Don John, returned the 9th instant with his squadron, after having been at Gibraltar, and cruising some time upon the coast of Sallee. He staid nine days at Gibraltar, and expressed great satisfaction at the particular attention and politeness with which he was received by the Governor and the whole garrison.

Breslau, Oct. 10. The King has issued a decree, by which he commands the Lords of this province to treat their tenants or vassals with more humanity than they have been heretofore used to do, and not give them over to the military power for correction; his Majesty being determined that the military shall not interfere with the civil jurisdiction, but each of them be confined within its own proper district; so that when a Nobleman thinks himself injured by any of his vassals, he shall summon him before the proper judge, and follow the ordinary course of the law.

Stockholm, Oct. 9. Letters from Lindkoping, the capital of Ostrogothia, advise, that the wolves are grown so numerous in those quarters, that they enter houses, and take children out of their cradles; and it is not known to what a height they may get, if some means are not speedily used to diminish the number of those voracious animals.

Petersburgh, Oct. 10. Her Imperial Majesty having been informed, that many ingenious foreigners, who are versed in the science of divers valuable manufactures, may be induced to settle in the dominions of Russia, by releasing them from present confinement for small debts, a scheme is on foot to draw as many such useful persons to Petersburgh as can be got; and her Majesty's ministers and agents at foreign courts are to receive orders to engage every artificer who may be willing to settle in Russia, and whose debts do not exceed 100 rubles.

Warsaw, Oct. 15. The following regulations are now upon the carpet; the payment of arrears due to the officers of the army; the settling a new additional fund for those arrears; for the repair of fortresses upon the frontiers; for maintaining the arsenals and artillery; the reformation of divers abuses that have been gradually introduced; the establishing the estates of the crown on a new footing; and a new coin.

Copenhagen, Oct. 15. Our Ministry seem now to have adopted the prudential maxim of avoiding all burthensome and compulsive alliances, while at the same time they appear to pursue the only means to make them good, whenever it may be thought proper to enter into such. This can only be done by trade, for which reason continual endeavours are used to extend the commerce of this kingdom; which, exclusive of foreign connections, is already enriched with the addition of no less than fifteen new manufactures since the year 1762.

"We were just going to sail for Madrass, when we had advices commanding our stay here, in order to protect this settlement, as fresh disturbances are gathering up the country, another power having been prevailed upon by Cossim Ali Cawn to join him, in order to try a second campaign. However, we hope this will not produce any bad effects, as our last accounts from Madrass give us reason to hope that Cossim himself would soon be obliged to leave the country, as his stay must necessarily endanger his being taken prisoner. It is now commonly computed, that of black and white people in our interest, he has massacred in cold blood about 4000, exclusive of the many destroyed in battle."

It is probable they have the Marks of the Blows given by said Dymond, whereby they may be discovered; and brought to Justice.

IT having been repreſented, ſome Years ago, to the TRUSTEES of the College, Academy and Charitable School of Philadelphia, that many Perſons, at a Diſtance from the City, would more willingly ſend their Children to this Seminary, if they could be lodged and boarded in a Collegiate Way, under the immediate Care and Inſpection of the Profeſſors and Maſters; by which it was hoped the Youth would make greater Proficiency in their Studies, and the Expence be conſiderably leſs-------

8 SAMUEL BLACKWOOD.

ROBERT FERGUSON

HAS lately moved his Shop from the Corner of Cheſtnut and Second-ſtreets, to the Houſe of Mr. John Howard, in Second-ſtreet, between Market and Cheſtnut-ſtreets, and next Door but one to Trotter's Alley.

ON looking into the New-York Gazette of December 3, 1764, I find the following Paragraph; "On Thurſday, the 20th Inſtant, a Half-mile Race was run on Staten-Iſland for 300 l. between Mr. Waters's Horſe True Britain, and a Gelding belonging to Mr. Corell of New-Jerſey, which was won by three Lengths by the former." And as the Facts are miſrepreſented, I beg the following State of them may be publiſhed, the Truth of which I can prove by a Number of Perſons of eſtabliſhed good Reputation.

The True Britain, and my Valiant (a Stallion, not a Gelding) ran on Staten-Iſland the 20th of laſt November, for a Wager of 120 l. which the True Britain won, and Mr. Waters received of Colonel Seyman, in whoſe Hands I ſtaked that Sum, but the Diſtance he beat him was much ſhort of three Lengths. After the Race was run, in a Converſation between myſelf, Mr. Benjamin Waters, and Mr. Nathaniel Herd, I ſaid, "Valiant had loſt his Race by an Accident." In a few Minutes after the Wager was paid, Mr. Anthony Waters challenged me to run again that Week for the ſame Sum, or double the Sum, which I accepted, agreeable to his Challenge; and we agreed to meet next Morning, at Mr. Vanderbelt's, to view a Piece of Ground, which he thought would ſuit his Horſe better than that on which the Horſes had run, and to ſtake the Money.

He did not appear till after 12 o'Clock, and then refuſed to run becauſe (he ſaid) "The Horſe belonged to him but in Part," and "that he would not diſoblige his Friends, he would rather forfeit 100 l." and offered to pay me the Damage, which I refuſed, and preſs'd him earneſtly to ſtake the Money and run; I told him he had not made that Objection to the firſt Race, and that I thought he would not have made it to the ſecond, but that he was convinced the Valiant could beat the Britain. And now, to convince the Public, that I do think the Valiant can beat the Britain, I hereby offer to run the Race Mr. Waters challenged me to, at any Time he dare, allowing me any reaſonable Time to fit my Horſe for it.

The above-mentioned VALIANT is about 15 Hands high, a ſtrong made, and a beautifully proportioned Horſe; a remarkably good dark bay, and is full Blood. He will cover Mares the enſuing Seaſon, at my Houſe at Coryell's Ferry, in Bucks County, at Three Pounds the Seaſon, and Half-a-Crown to the Groom.-------I have good Paſture, and Mares ſent to me will be properly taken Care of, at Two Shillings and Six-pence per Week.
